

March 2011

Greetings to you,

As we mentioned in our last newsletter, we've had (and will continue to have) opportunities to share our ministry in church services. And here's a conversation we've had over and over again.

"Really? I can have this?"

"Yes, it's yours, we'd love you to have it!"

One of our primary purposes when presenting at churches is to share our heart, passion, and the impact FamilyLife is making in order to find new ministry partners so that we can report to Little Rock as soon as possible. And we've found that the best way to show the impact of FamilyLife is to make an impact on individuals right then and there.

When we go to a church service we take a table full of some of the resources FamilyLife produces or offers. And we mention during the service that people are welcome to make a donation for the resources, but if they aren't able to we'd love for them to take them anyways. It doesn't do them, or us, any good for us to pack it up and take it home. If they can use it, or someone they know can use it, we want to bless them.

We've given away marriage devotionals that encourage couples to spend time connecting spiritually. We've given parents fun, family-friendly devotional activities. We've given singles resources that encourage them to honor God in their singleness. We've given couples books, cd's and activities to develop romance in their marriage.

And we're able to do this because of your continued generous donations to our ministry now. Your giving is making an impact now on couples, parents, single moms, grandparents, college students, and others even before we report to Little Rock. We love being the conduits of blessing to families and marriages in need of help and hope. We are grateful for your support; we couldn't do the ministry we do without your prayers and donations.

Thanks for making it possible for us to use FamilyLife's resources to participate in ministry now. Please pray for those we've met, and will continue to meet who need, and will benefit from, these resources. And on behalf of those we've met, thank you for faithfully giving and making a difference in their lives and families.

Fighting for families,
